

도로명주소 읽기: 로/길·건물번호, (아파트) 동·호 찾기

Quickly find and say the road name (ending in 로/길) with the building number, and apartment 동·호, in Korean addresses.

WHAT THIS IS FOR

Learners can 1) find and read the road name ending in 로/길 plus the building number, and 2) find and say apartment 동 and 호 quickly and accurately.

1 ROAD-NAME ADDRESSES AT A GLANCE

A Korean address is read in three parts: region (시/도, 시/군/구) + road name and building number + (for apartments) 동·호.

Example: in '서울 종로구 햇살로17길 12, 202호 (부암동, 한빛빌라)', '햇살로17길 12' is the road name and building number, and '202호' is the unit number. The parentheses at the end hold the neighborhood (법정동) and the building name.

2 FINDING 로/길 (RO/GIL) AND THE BUILDING NUMBER

Road names usually end in '...로' (ro) or '...길' (gil), including '...번길' (beon-gil). The number right after the road name is the building number.

Examples: '세종대로 110' is read '세종대로 백십', and '햇살로17길 12' is read '햇살로 십칠길 십이'. Read the numbers with Sino-Korean place units (천/백/십).

3 FINDING APARTMENT 동·호 (DONG/HO)

In apartments, officetels and similar buildings, the detailed address (동·층·호) comes after the comma. '동' is the building number within the complex, '층' is the floor, and '호' is the unit (room) number.

Official pattern: '..., 101동 1203호 (○○동, ○○아파트)' or '..., 1203호 (○○동, ○○오피스텔)' (sometimes there is no 동). The building name goes in the parentheses at the end, together with the neighborhood (법정동).

Everyday informal style: many people write the building name before 동·호, e.g. '..., 초록아파트 101동 1203호'. You will often see this on packages and in text messages, but it is not the official format.

How to read it: '백일동 천이백삼호' (101동 1203호).

4 TIPS FOR FINDING THEM QUICKLY

1) First, find the end of the road name, the last '로' or '길/번길'. For branch roads like '...로17길' or '...로45번길', the number stuck to the word is part of the road name. The number after the space is the building number.

2) Look for '동', '층' and '호' right after the comma (in the informal style, after the building name). The words in the parentheses at the end are the neighborhood and building name, not the unit. If there is no 동·층·호, say '없음' (none).

5 PRACTICE INSTRUCTIONS

Finding: write 'road name building number; 동·층·호', or 'road name building number; 없음' (none). Reading: say the road name + building number first, then 동·호 (with the building name if it comes before 동·호); leave out the region and the parentheses at the end. Write the numbers in Hangul, e.g. '세종대로 백십'.

Apart from '세종대로 110', the example addresses are made up for practice and do not refer to real places.

6 YOUR TURN

- 1 Write the road name + building number and the 동/층/호 (write 없음 if there is none): 광주 북구 무지개로 58
- 2 Write the road name + building number and the 동/층/호 (write 없음 if there is none): 부산 해운대구 바다숲로45번길 17, 3층 (우동)
- 3 Write how to say it from the road name to 호, with Sino-Korean numbers in Hangul; leave out the region and the parentheses: 경기 성남시 분당구 푸른숲로 146, 101동 402호 (정자동, 초록아파트)
- 4 Write the road name + building number and the 동/층/호 (write 없음 if there is none): 대전 유성구 별빛로 29, 5동 (관평동, 새빛연구단지)
- 5 Informal style: write how to say it from the road name to the end, with the building name before 호 and Sino-Korean numbers in Hangul; leave out the region: 서울 마포구 달빛로12번길 8, 해오름빌라 203호
