

첫소리 ㅂ, ㅍ, ㅃ 구별하기

This worksheet covers the three Korean "p/b" letters at the start of a word: plain ㅂ, aspirated ㅍ and tense ㅃ. Each letter has an English cue and a set of easy words. You learn to tell the letters apart using minimal pairs such as 불/풀/뿔, 발/팔 and 방/뺑. The exercises cover a tissue test, reading, sorting and choosing the right word.

WHAT THIS IS FOR

Tell apart and pronounce word-initial ㅂ, ㅍ and ㅃ. Choose the correct word from minimal-pair sets like 불/풀/뿔, 발/팔 and 방/뺑.

1 THE LETTERS

LETTER	SOUND	TRACE AND COPY
ㅂ	plain b/p: soft, with a light puff of air Between English b and the p in "pin": a light puff of air, softer than ㅍ. Often heard as a soft b.
ㅍ	aspirated p: strong puff of air Close to the p in "pin" (strong puff of air).
ㅃ	tense pp: lips pressed tight, throat tense, no puff of air No exact English match. Like the p in "spin", but said harder and tighter, with no air.
